NORTH·CENTRAL·HIGH
·ERECTED·D·MCMIX·

Foreword

The Doll Shop is the theme of the 1958 Tamarack, and to it, its players and its friends, we dedicate this book.

Again this spring North Central guys and dolls presented Doll Shop—our gala talent show. This 14th biennial production was a special one, not only because it was one of the best, but also because it is the last one for its creator and director, Miss Elsa Pinkham, and music conductor and arranger, Lowell Bradford.

Though the dolls on the division pages are not actual Doll Shop characters, they do portray North Central students who for years have been impersonating them. Each division represents a part of school life.

In the opening of the book, they sit on the shelves of Pink's Heaven, just "coming to life." At the close, they have returned once again, to wait until some magic hand some day brings them "back to life."

ADMINISTRATION

Our school-marm, MISS
PRUDENCE PRIM,
may seem a bit out of place in this day of modern education;
yet she symbolizes the teaching profession,
for discipline and learning still go hand in hand, although the methods may have changed.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools

Since 1875, Spokane has been fortunate to have school boards who have given of their time and energy to maintain high caliber schools where youngsters have opportunity commensurate with the desire to achieve.

Spokane School Board members serve without reward other than the satisfaction that they are contributing to the success and happiness of succeeding generations.

1957-58 SCHOOL BOARD members are, Top: James E. Winton, president; Bottom: Wm. Gordon Fowle, Otto Orr, Mrs. Mary F. Wurth, Keith H. Campbell.

PRINCIPAL JOSEPH M. TEWINKEL

America's Greatest Need

Never before have common people gained the advantages we know in America.

Why? Our way of government?

No.

The government our forefathers created got great things from them; it didn't put great things into them. These things came from their home life, their sense of personal responsibility to Almighty God, their devotion to education despite all difficulties, and their personal character.

When their government called on them, it drew from profound depths where vital forces had been at work.

America, 1958, can be saved only by comparable devotion from comparable young men and women.

Paul Tobie, biology

Mathematics
Science

The mathematics department has added an analysis course for second semester seniors to better prepare them for college mathematics.

Students may become thoroughly versed in quantitative fundamentals by enrolling in courses in algebra, geometry, trigonometry and analysis.

Courses offered by the science department are necessary for students planning for college or for a career in fields such as medicine, engineering or nursing.

Orval Theisen, physics
Walter Spangenburg, biology
Donald Bonamy, biology
Ernest Hix, science department head

Dale E. Blair, biology
Laura Lee Briscoe, Latin
Helen Oscarson, foreign language department head
Robert Rowley, Spanish

General science and biology courses offered by the science department provide a background for advanced studies. Physics and chemistry give an understanding of the properties and behavior of matter and prepare students for college work.

Studying the culture of other nations to increase understanding, tolerance and appreciation of other people is part of the Spanish and Latin courses.

Margaret Rawlings, English
Helen L. Haltom, English
Margaret Nistad, English
Virginia Wilcox, English

English

The English department offers the student the opportunity to develop his ability to express himself.

The aim of the composition courses is to help him to form habits of clear thinking, to form better speech habits and to encourage him to write and speak about things within his own experience.

Objective of the literature courses is to develop a genuine love of reading on the part of the student.

Arthur B. Miller, debate
Imogene L. Knight, English
Russell Meyer, English

John Malterner, English
Mary McKenna, journalism, publications adviser
Genevieve Oppen, drama
Daniel C. Davis, English

English

Communicating with others is a vital part of relations among human beings. Success in life is directly related to the ability to think clearly and to express ideas accurately and forcefully.

English I-VI are basic courses offered for the first three years of high school. Journalism, drama and debate may be substituted for one year of the basic English courses or taken in addition. For seniors who will attend college, senior composition and literature are essential.

Del Jones, American government
Charles Chandler, department head
Charles R. Randall, U. S. history
Muriel Allison, U. S. history

Edward Luders, psychology
Nancy Grant, world history
William Whitaker, world history
Virginia Riegel, world history

With aggressive political systems such as communism threatening democracy and the freedom of the western world, a thorough understanding of our culture as compared to others is vital.

The social studies department helps students to acquire a better understanding of citizenship and the American system. Courses in World, United States and Washington history offer international, national and local perspectives of man's struggle to his present status.

Social Studies

Wallace Russell, U. S. history
Guy L. Griswold, current problems
David Holmes, boys' physical education
Carol Houck, girls' physical education

Elsa Pinkham, girls' physical education department head
Barbara Simpson, girls' physical education
Gerald Stannard, boys' physical education department head
William Diedrick, boys' physical education

Social Studies
Physcial Education

The girls' physical education department strives to give girls an understanding of good physical and mental health through the medium of swimming, first aid and competitive sports.

The boys' physical education department this year has begun a testing program with newly acquired equipment. Instruments will be used to more effectively measure the physical development of boys participating in swimming, football, basketball, baseball, and track.

Mary York, bookkeeping
Norman W. Erickson, typing
Mary Griggs, stenography
James Griggs, department head

Edward E. Feldhusen, typing
A. A. Manfred, typing
Helen Stockdale, typing
Blair Glover, stenography

Business Education

The business education department offers two years each of bookkeeping, stenography and typing, and one year of office practice.

Students should specialize either in bookkeeping or stenography to be prepared for office positions offered to high school graduates. It is wise to schedule as many commercial subjects as possible during the last semesters of high school so that one's skills will be fresh when he enters the business world.

Leonard Graham, electronics
Alvin Olsen, auto shop
Kenneth Hagen, plastics
Vern Broadwell, wood shop

George Theodorsen, industrial arts department head
Kenneth Mhyre, fine arts department head
Dale Spurgeon, metal shop
Mervin Manuel, art

Industrial Arts
Fine Arts

Future engineers, machinists, and builders find the industrial arts department invaluable. Mechanical drawing is essential for prospective engineers. Other courses include wood shop, metal shop, electronics, and auto mechanics. A special feature of the department is the plastics course.

The fine arts department courses are designed to develop an understanding and appreciation of the arts, from basic principles of design and color to specialized phases such as fashion illustration and water colors.

Helen Beaver, child development
Patricia Brown, social relations
Christine Neuman, foods
Opal Wetherell, foods

Lowell C. Bradford, band director
Stanley Taft, music department head
Madeline Carroll, head librarian
Thomas Anderson, librarian

Homemaking Music Library

The music department attempts to give students a proper outlet for their leisure time. Understanding music provides an enduring basis of enjoyment and pleasure and a broader understanding of modern culture.

The homemaking department offers courses in child development, social relations, home furnishings, clothing selection and construction, and foods. The department's newest addition is the boys' chef class for boys wishing to learn some phases of homemaking.

Edwin Kretz, study hall
Edmund Schweitzer, study hall
Gladys Dunphy, study hall
Marilee Baumgartner, clerk-typist

Adeline Daves, bookkeeper
Marjorie Jennings, attendance clerk
Marjorie Stoner, school secretary
Helen Wayland, bookroom clerk

Study Hall Office Workers

Maintaining the records of activities, grades, and attendance for the thousands of North Central students and graduates is part of the tremendous task of the office staff. They also prepare the daily bulletin for homerooms.

Prospective college students or job applicants depend on the office staff to send out recommendations and grade transcripts to colleges or to prospective employers.

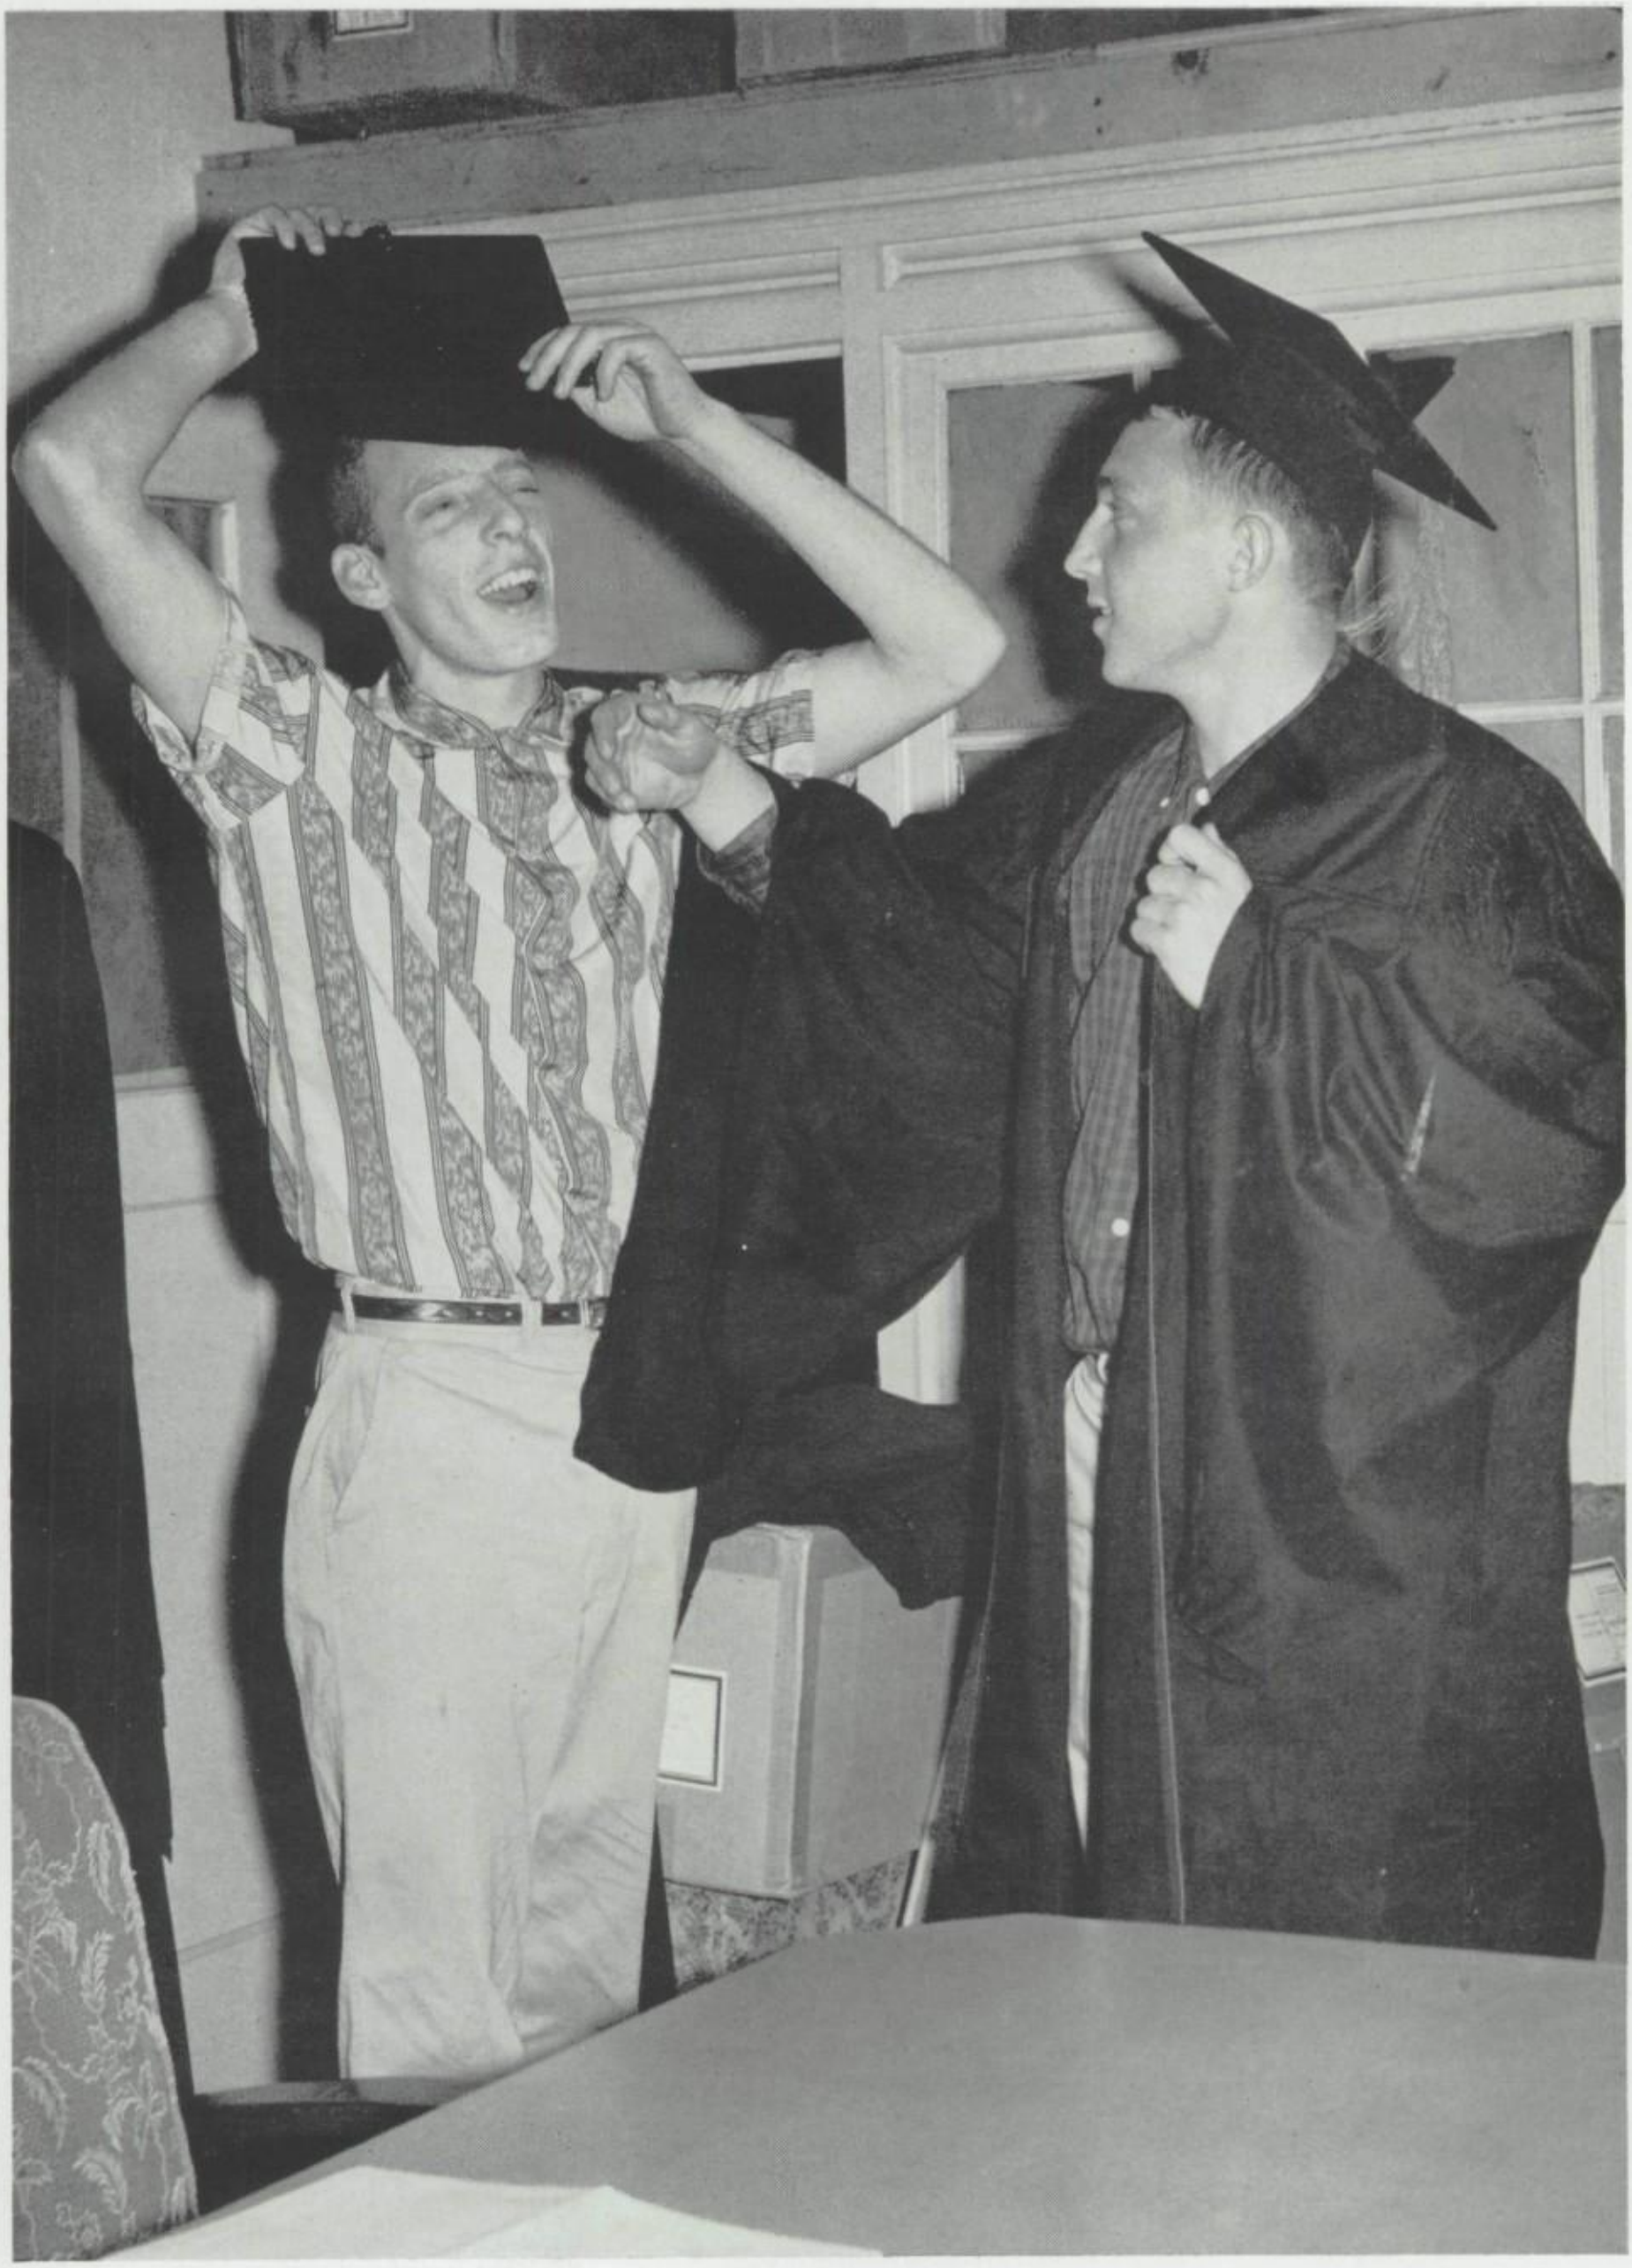
The long anticipated Senior Prom appears near as Carole Gornall adds the finishing touches to her ensemble.



With a seemingly gay outlook of the future, Denny Livengood and Benny Corigliano prepare for the climax of their high school years—graduation.

It looks as though Miss Prim has caught the culprit who drew the not-too-flattering caricature
of her,
and now DONALD DUNCE will spend the day in the corner.
Perhaps Donald
does not correctly portray today's student,
but he typifies
what happens to those who misbehave.

Fall ASB Officers

"A government of the students, by the students, and for the students." This phrase aptly describes the ASB as it seeks to govern the Student Body. The House of Representatives and the Senate represent the students at a House meeting each Thursday morning.

The Senate, which is made up of one boy and one girl from each class and the Federation and League presidents, meets each Tuesday morning to discuss and settle problems of the student government. Miss Patrica Damon and Del Jones are advisers.

Standing committees and their chairmen are selected each semester with the approval of the Senate. Committees include dance, election, honors board, convocation scheduling, school finance, and scholarship.

The Get-Acquainted Mixer, an annual affair sponsored by the Associated Student Body, was held the Friday evening after school opened in the fall. The mixer resulted in students becoming acquainted — and school spirit developing with a bang. The Sadie Hawkins Dance was the November ASB activity.

The planning and carrying out of correct convocation seating was one of the most worthwhile projects of the year. With the help of Kay Sayles, student convocation chairman, each class was seated in the proper rows in the auditorium and this seating plan was strictly enforced. Seniors especially benefited from this project as it entitled them to the first rows during the convocations.

Christmas spirit was not lacking as the ASB raised money for needy families and staged their annual Christmas convocation. They also sponsored the Christmas door-decorating contest. Roller skating parties were money-making projects.

ably head the student government.

Color Week was held in the early fall to encourage school spirit before the football games. Students wore red and black, the school colors, and promoted game attendance.

Co-Rec nights were attended by many more students than usual this year. Swimming, checkers, chess, badminton, volleyball and ping-pong were played in the gym and in the cafeteria.

Homeroom of the Year Contest is a new project of the ASB. Each homeroom was judged this year on its activities, its honor roll and its homeroom average, Christmas door decoration, charitable work, tardiness in the homeroom, ASB and Girls' League attendance, bulletin board, PTA, and homeroom attendance.

Fancy socks, a must for the "Sock Hop," added color and variety to the dance in the gym in the late spring. The Basketball Banquet, held March 26 in the Roundup Room of the Desert Hotel, was sponsored by the ASB.

At intervals during the year, money and supplies were sent to Kwak Yong In, the Korean war orphan, adopted by North Central five years ago. Plans were made to provide him with the money for his high school education.

The Senate has discussed plans to have a foreign exchange student, perhaps next year. The spring project committee chose for their project the revarnishing of the trophy cases in the lower hall. They were sanded down, the velvet backing was replaced, the trophies cleaned, and the gold trophies were placed in them. The committee also worked on an enlarged parking lot with better facilities for student drivers.

Spring ASB Officers

Aided by class senators, they strive

GIRLS' STATE — Linda Shriver, Kay Sayles, Lorna Overmyer, Kay Dodge.

One of the main activities of the ASB each years is to send selected students to Boys and Girls' State. This is a valuable experience for any student, for at State he learns by actual practice how the government is run and what part the individual plays. Elections are held, committees are chosen, and a government is set up.

Girls' State is held on the Central Washington College of Education campus at Ellensburg. Senior girls from all parts of the state set up city governments, county governments, and a state government. Campaigns are organized and any girl is eligible to run for an office on her party's ticket.

While the primary purpose of Girls' State is to learn how our government is organized and practiced, the girls also enjoy many sports and lively get-togethers. They profit to unite and strengthen North Central.

in many ways from this experience and come home better citizens as a result of it.

Boys' State is set up in much the same way as Girls' State, but the boys meet on the campus of Pacific Lutheran College, located in Parkland, Washington, a suburb of Tacoma.

Four amendments to the ASB constitution were passed in the late spring by the student body. One concerned having two advisers for the ASB, one of which may not be a class teacher. The second makes the vice-president and the treasurer voting members of the House of Representatives. The third eliminates convocation deputies and hall guards. The committees for publicity, school and grounds, and scholarship were also made standing committees.

BOYS' STATE — Clockwise: Tom Russell, Gary Koeppel, Skip Perry, John McCoy, Gordon Mills.

Girls' League attains its goal

FALL LEAGUE OFFICERS — Linda Shriver, president; Lorna Overmyer, vice-president; Janice Sipe, secretary; Joyce Roberrtson, treasurer.

"Calling all pancake eaters!" The latest Girls' League money-raising project was their pancake breakfast in March.

A panel discussion highlighted the League Coke party, "Shamrock Shenanigans," March 17. Spring and the wearing of cotton clothes was officially heralded by Cotton Day, April 3. Another spring activity was the Mothers' Dessert. The vocational conferences were sponsored by the League and the Federation.

Activities in the fall were a style show, a PTA membership drive, the Dad-Daughter banquet, Courtesy Week, and a winter mixer. Needy families benefited at Christmas time from contributions made by students who had their pictures taken on "Santa's" lap.

The annual Big Sister party was held September 3 to acquaint the little sisters with North Central. The fourth annual Big Sister award went to Sharon Witt.

of service to the community,

SPRING LEAGUE OFFICERS — Kay Newland, president; Sally Engstrom, vice-president; Diane Duncan, secretary; Claudia McIntosh, treasurer.

School spirit was stressed before each sports event throughout the year by signs encouraging attendance at the games.

Honor, service and loyalty, the motto of the girls, exemplifies the League's purpose in planning their activities. Founded in 1918 by Miss Jessie Gibson, it is an organization in which each girl is able to participate. Miss Patricia Damon is adviser.

The ruling body of the League, the Central Council, is composed of the officers and a representative of each homeroom. The year's activities are planned and authorized by this group.

Recognition is given each semester to girls who have earned League points by their service to the school. Bronze, silver, gold, or gold with a ruby pins are are awarded depending upon the number of points earned.

The League sextet provided entertainment for League convocations and various school activities.

while the Boys' Federation seeks

Boys' Federation, organized by Lowell C. Bradford in 1918 when its principal activity was working on World war I projects, is now celebrating its 40th year.

To provide activities for the boys and to serve the school and the community are the aims of the Federation.

The Archie Buckley Inspirational Award is given each year by the Federation to the most inspirational player on the varsity football team. This year the award was presented to Tom Rickard, senior.

An orientation convocation in September for boys new to North Central was sponsored jointly by the Federation and the athletic coaches. Other convocations were held at Thanksgiving and for the January elections.

Needy families received aid from the Federation during the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. Each family was provided with food, clothing and gifts.

The polio drive was the final activity in the fall semester. Gene Erickson, president, was county vice-chairman.

Planning the vocational conferences was the primary activity of the Boys' Federation and the Girls' League for the spring semester. Larry Oty and John Burdick were Federation chairmen. A freshman-sophomore stag party was held for the boys in February.

A novice debate tournament is sponsored each year for beginning debaters and the winners' names are engraved on a plaque provided by the Federation. A novice track meet is held in the spring.

The hard-working Tamarack staff

Preparing advertising copy for the printer to set up in type is one of the responsibilities of advertising managers, Joyce Robertson and Janice Sipe. Soliciting and picture taking was done early in the fall.

Adding new features to the 1958 Tamarack and improving the regular attractions has kept Joan Geiger and her yearbook staff quite occupied.

New features include an index compiled by Joyce Robertson and Janice Sipe, a complete page for each of the 15 clubs, a two-page spread of school dance pictures and one of convocation programs, and a double-page calendar of the year's high lights.

Before copy can be sent to the printer, it must be typed and carefully proof read. Faculty editor, Ray Goeller, and boys' sports editor, Ray Rantanen, are making final copies.

Thirty-six pages of senior panels in the yearbook had to be trimmed and mounted before they were sent to the engraver. Marlene Smith and Judy Rizzuti, art editor, mount pictures as senior editor, Janet Bofto, checks for accuracy.

Staff members—Dorothy Miller, Irene Campbell and Mary Bonin—type first drafts of their copy. Names and facts double checked for accuracy.

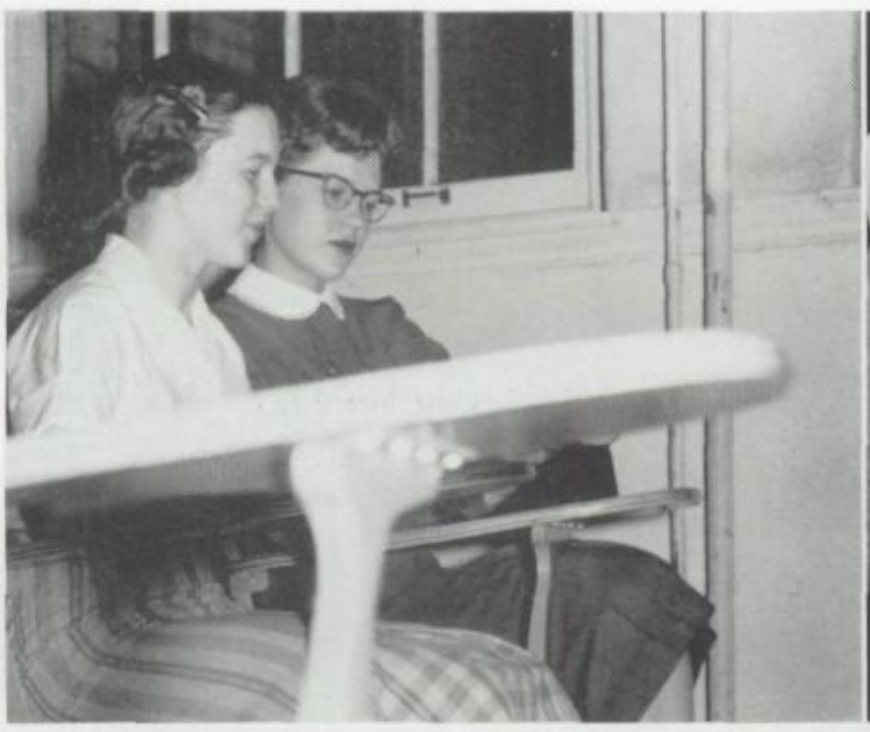
Sally Akan learns something about picture mounting from art student, Virginia Tobin. Sally had charge of the club section which included identifying members and writing copy and captions for the action shots.

writes and publishes the yearbook.

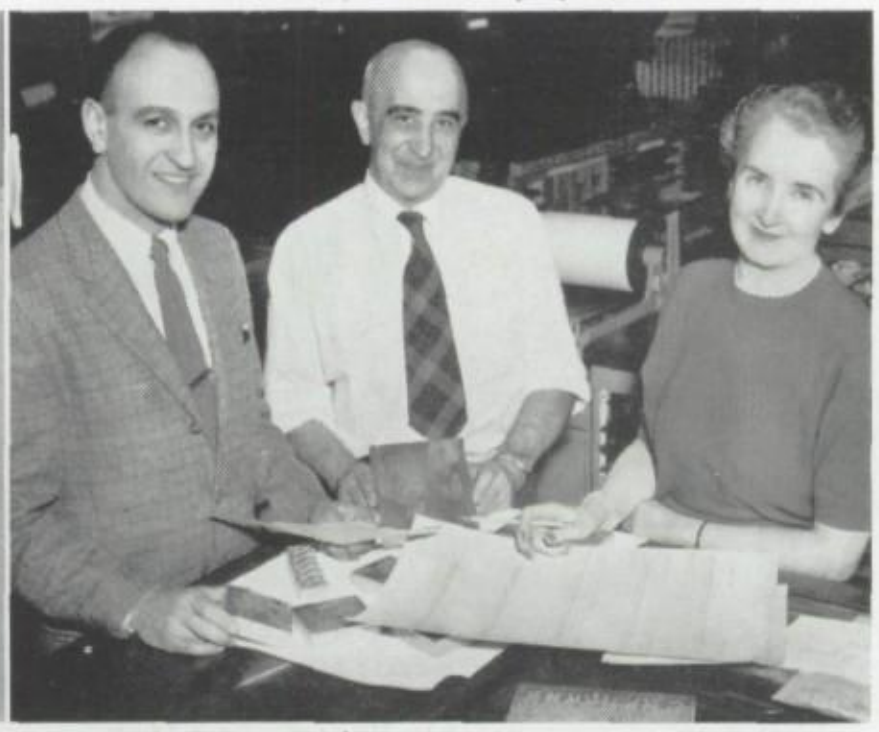
In the sports section, margins have been eliminated, thereby giving more space to copy and pictures. In the classes section, each homeroom is given a half page instead of a third as in previous books.

The sales campaign opened in November with the promise of padded covers if 1500 books were sold. The campaign closed with 1602 subscriptions. Ninety per cent of the student body had subscribed.

Joan Geiger, editor-in-chief, and Esther Ray, asscciate editor, discussing page layouts. Before copy can be written and pictures taken, a complete layout or "dummy" must be prepared.



Checking spelling of names for the homeroom section are Sharron Ott and Carole Gornall. This job is of major importance as no one likes to see his name spelled wrong.



Photography adviser, Mervin Manuel, print shop director, Don Townsend, and publications adviser, Mary McKenna, at the print shop. Printing is the last step before the book is bound.

With over two hundred pages of pictures to take, the photography staff—Esther Ray, John Roberts, Marv Gattis, Bob Westfall, and Jim McClintock—kept the Graphic camera's shutter clicking constantly. Arrangements must be made for each picture to be taken; a photographer then is assigned to the picture. Picture taking is only the first step in a series before the photo can be sent to the engraver—developing, printing, drying and mounting follow after the picture is taken.

News staff writes the weekly paper

Fall editor-in-chief, Lois Richards, confers with spring editor, Erich Luschei. Editing a weekly high school newspaper requires much planning and thought—along with the fun and excitement it provides.

The frantic race against last-minute news story deadlines coupled with the thrill of finally seeing the product of his labors in print—these are among the unforgettable experiences every member of The News staff shares as he helps to publish the weekly paper.

For outstanding journalists, there is an opportunity to join Quill and Scroll, an international high school organization, and Junior Press Club.

Filing newspapers from high schools throughout the nation are exchange editors, Freda Brown and Mary Engle. From these papers, staff members learn what other high schools are doing and writing.

Stories, pictures and columns appearing on the sports page are handled by Bill Bailey and Jim Dewey, boys' sports editors, and Jo Storch, girls' sports editor.

in which members from each Spokane high school journalism staff interview visiting celebrities and have meetings with professionals to learn more about various areas of the communications field.

Framed certificates lining the newsroom attest to the fact that for the past 23 years this publication has been awarded top national honors. Miss McKenna is publications adviser.

Associate editor, Nancy Noonan, and managing editor, Pat Wetherell, discuss some news copy. The managing editor and associate editor write editorials, edit copy and assist the editor-in-chief in many ways.

News editors, Cecelia Reuss and Carol Quarles, checking off copy which they are sending to the print shop. Part of the news editor's work is to assign stories to reporters and make sure the stories are written on time.

Ruth Olsen and Mickey Brenton, feature editors, looking over feature material in the back issues of The News. The feature editor is in charge of the make-up and stories on the editorial page (2).

Mailing managers mail The News to the administrators and the different schools of School district 81, to other high school newspapers in the United States, and to the advertisers. Carolyn McIntosh, Kay Hutchinson and Judy Reuss were in charge of mailing this year.

"To be or not to be!" Whether or not foreign aid should be increased was the problem confronting the debaters working on this year's resolution – Resolved: That the United States foreign aid should be substantially increased.

The squad tied with West Valley for third place in the Northeast District Debate League. Highest honors at the Pacific Lutheran College Tournament went to the junior division debaters as they captured the Junior Division Sweepstakes trophy in a tie with Mercer Island, Seattle.

North Central was one of 20 schools receiving a plaque from the College of Puget Sound for outstanding contributions in the field of forensics during the past decade.

Students who have had no previous debate experience may enter the beginning class where principles of research, elementary logic, and basic speaking techniques are studied.

The beginning debate class attended the Gonzaga University Forensics Tournament, the Whitworth College Debate Tournament, and the Pacific Lutheran College Tournament this year. The beginning class also represented North Central at the Northeast District Novice Tournament and the Northeast District Speech Tournament.

In the advanced debate class the student becomes more adept at public speaking and is eligible for competition in the Northeast District Debate League. Pins are awarded annually to participants in League debates.

Debaters have an opportunity to gain experience and recognition not only in debating but also in the fields of impromptu speaking, oratory, extemporaneous speaking and literary interpretation.

Rules are enforced by student court.

STUDENT COURT — Seated: Jerry Scollard, bailiff; Gene Erickson, judge; Hal Hendrick, prosecuting attorney; Sharon Cogley, secretary. Standing: Del Jones, adviser; Gary Koeppel, prosecuting attorney; Dick Rew, bailiff; Tom Russell, judge; Carol Jean Thibault, secretary; J. P. Sullivan, defense attorney.

"Your honor, I am innocent!" Students charged with violating the laws passed by the legislative branch of the student body government are brought before the judicial branch to plead their case.

Infractions of student body laws such as smoking, scuffling, loitering in the halls, and disregarding cafeteria regulations are tried before the student court each Wednesday.

Violations have been fewer this year, according to Mr. Jones, student court adviser. The reduced student body can be cited as a possible factor, but an above-average maturity and consideration for others in this year's student body could also be considered as responsible for the improved record.

Presiding over the student court during the fall semester was Tom Russell, judge. Bailiff Dick Rew brought the accused before the court. Prosecuting Attorney Gary Koeppel and Defense Attorney J. P. Sullivan presented the cases. Carol Jean Thibault, secretary, recorded the proceedings.

Sharon Cogley, secretary, kept the list of offenders throughout the spring semester. Presenting the accused to the judge, Gene Erickson, were Hal Hendrick, prosecuting attorney; Jerry Scollard, bailiff, and Erich Luschei, defense attorney.

The principal function of the student court is to insure fair treatment for accused students and to maintain respect for the student body government. Its predecessor, the conduct board, functioned through 1949. The student court was originated in 1950 to more efficiently handle violations and to mete out justice on a basis common to our society.

School clubs like Amores Librorum

AMORES LIBRORUM — First row: Miss Carroll, Sara Lee Wizeman, Judy Lawrence, Sharron Ott, Susan Rogers, Mickey Brenton, Linden Lovegren. Second row: Joan Geiger, Connie Darrah, Marcy Whitten, Ida Masterson, Bonnie Richmond, Sharon Lenhart.

Marcy Whitten and Sharron Ott working on Amores Librorum World History project.

"Reading maketh a full man," said Francis Bacon. The members of Amores Librorum try to live up to this axiom.

Organized in 1937 by a former librarian, Amores Librorum members endeavor to create and maintain an interest in good literature. They also try to make their lives more meaningful by increasing their knowledge and appreciation of the arts.

During the annual Book Week, the club sponsors a book contest. Each member gives a review on a book at every meeting. Often they attend travel talks or ask foreign students to speak at their meetings.

This year for a service project, they prepared a reading list for the World History students and teachers.

and Aquettes provide fun and friendship.

"Home Town, USA," featuring cities of the United States, was Aquettes' annual water pageant this year. It was presented under the direction of Mrs. Bess Milton, former Red Cross swim instructor.

Organized in 1952, this club offers an opportunity to perfect swimming skills. Girls seeking membership must have C grades or better and must pass a test given by the members.

An Easter project brought happiness to both the children at a local orphan's home and to the Aquettes. The St. Patrick's Day mixer which is usually sponsored by the group could not be held this year because it conflicted with Doll Shop. Present faculty adviser is Miss Knight.

Service projects of the Art Club

ART CLUB — First row: Judy Pilant, Robin Rollis, Diane Steckling, Bonnie Underdahl, Alice Rae Collins. Second row: Virginia Tobin, Judy Rizzuti, Rosemary Martin, Carol Piper, Carroll Killin. Third row: Walter Duty, Mr. Manuel, J. P. Sullivan.

Rosemary Martin, Virginia Tobin, Robin Rollis and Alice Rae Collins add finishing touches to the Totem In murals — an Art club project.

Totem In has a new look. Art club members this year finished the decorating of the walls.

Indians prancing on the North Central Indian Wagon and the decorations for the Sadie Hawkins Dance and the Soc Hop were other projects of this group. They also sponsored the Painting of the Year contest in which the entire student body has an opportunity to participate.

The group made and sold Christmas table centerpieces and used the profits to make more centerpieces for hospitals and rest homes. They also attended the art exhibits at the Coliseum and the art center.

and the Commercial Club are many.

Those shining trophies get that way as a result of hard work on the part of the members of the Commercial club. Cleaning all the trophies is a job undertaken each year by this group as they enjoy a potluck dinner. Other school and community service projects included making favors at Christmas for a local rest home and stuffing envelopes for the Easter Seal campaign.

Requirements for membership are a major or minor in business education, a C average in all subjects, and a passing grade on an English test given by the club.

Throughout the year, members have an opportunity to hear speakers on various phases of business.

Commercial club does not limit its activities to shorthand and typing. Billie Jo Malony, Joanne Bishop, Carol Charest and Lailla Watson make Christmas corsages for Spokane Sanitarium patients.

Future Teachers make career plans.

Seen doing a little tutoring are Carole Olsen and Connie Darrah with Rod Niemeyer and Linda Pace.

Actual teaching experience is gained by girls of Future Teachers of America through a tutoring project benefiting members and recipients alike.

Occasionally an FTA member takes charge of a class for a teacher who is called away. College students doing their cadet work at North Central have met with the group to discuss teaching procedure and problems.

"Your Future in Teaching" was the title of a talk given by Mrs. Rudy Gerken, president of the Spokane Education Association, at a dinner in February honoring parents of Future Teachers.

Money-raising projects undertaken this year included a pickle sale and a Valentine mixer. The North Central members compose the Spokane Garry Chapter of Future Teachers of America.

Latin Club provides fun for students.

Shades of Julius Caesar! Knee-length tunics and open-toe sandals mark the Roman banquet, a main event for Latin club each year. Guests dress as Romans and Roman food is served. New members being initiated must wear tunics and serve as slaves to "their betters."

Other social and money-raising projects this year were a bowling party and a bake sale.

"Senatus Populus que Romanus," or The Senate and the Roman People, is the official title for Latin club. It was founded in 1914 by Miss Mary Evans, Latin teacher, for the purpose of promoting friendly relationships among Latin students. Anyone who is enrolled or who has been enrolled in Latin is eligible.

About to get an unwelcome egg shampoo from Lois Richards is Miriam Schultz, Latin club initiate. Max Mickey seems to to be enjoying Miriam's plight.

LATIN CLUB — First row: Cheryl Nance, Patty Johnson, Alice Rae Collins, Sidney Pruitt, Cecelia Reuss, Karen Moore. Mathematics majors enjoy Math Club.

An exciting moment in the annual Math Club-Latin Club basketball game in captured by the photographer.

Equations, such as $x^2-7x+5=0$, which may look like Greek to many students, are as simple as abc to any Mathmatics Club member. Mathematics Club was organized for students whose primary interest is mathematics. To be eligible, a student must have three or more semesters of math with at least a B average and be able to pass an entrance examination.

The annual Mathematics contest is sponsored by the club, and a plaque engraved with the winner's name is awarded to each year's winner. Bob Maule took highest honors this year.

The Latin Club-Math Club basketball game is another annual event to which all members look forward. Mr. Barnard is the adviser.

Medicine themes Medecine d' Avenir.

Examining medicine samples they have collected to be sent overseas to the missionaries are Tom Russell, Mike Stroud and Adele Turner.

Sorting, packing and mailing medicines provided by Spokane doctors was the principal project of Medicine club this year. The medicines have been sent to a missionary doctor in the French Camaroons, Africa.

A tour of Lakeland Village in November proved a valuable experience, for it made the members aware of the problems encountered in mental institutions.

Purpose of the club is to encourage students interested in a career in medicine and to provide information concerning medical fields. To be eligible for membership, a student must have a 2.5 scholastic average, a science or a mathematics major, and an interest in the medical profession.

With the help of the Spokane Medical society, the members hope to establish a scholarship fund.

Publishing The News and the Tamarack keeps members of Quill and Scroll so busy that they had little time for other projects except their needy family at Christmas and a dinner party with other Quill and Scroll chapters in the city. Each Tamarack day they sell plastic covers for the yearbook as a money-raising project.

To become a member of Quill and Scroll, a journalism student must have done outstanding work on either The News or the Tamarack and he must be in the upper third of his class in scholarship. This club is an international honorary for high school journalists. Chapters can be found as far away as Germany and New Zealand.

Rifle Club team competes in matches.

Interest in rifle marksmanship is stimulated in Rifle club. To join, one must have at least a C average. He must also have passed the rifle safety course, which is also required by state law for a hunting license.

The club is affiliated with the National Rifle Association and with the Washington State Rifle Association. Activities this year include two rifle matches with the Rogers High School club, one with West Valley and one with the Eagles Lodge.

Students interested in firearms, their care and use, should participate in the rifle club program. Opportunities are available to practice safely to improve marksmanship and at the same time gain recognition.

Matador Joe Barrow is cheered on by fellow Spaniards as he fights the fierce Bull (pup) El Toro at the Spanish Club convocation presented before a football game with Gonzaga Prep.

El Toro himself came bounding across the stage at a football convocation sponsored by Spanish club last fall. The group celebrated Christmas with a posada party—a custom originating in Spain—even to the pinata, a brightly painted papier-mache animal, which when broken open revealed a surprise for everyone.

Spanish club open house introduces a Latin atmosphere as foods of Mexico and Spain are featured. Purpose of the club is to provide information about the Spanish language and culture to supplement classwork. Robert Rowley, Spanish teacher, is adviser.

Mrs. Robert Rowley, who is from Mexico, and Pedro Lau, Venezuela, have been guests of the club and have answered questions about their respective countries.

Tau Chi's aim is to develop talent.

Vocalists, dancers, instrumentalists and other entertainers perfect their talents and acquire poise performing before the public as members of Talent club. Shows are produced at the request of many different organizations—fraternal, school and church. Patients at the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children were thrilled with the program brought to them this year by the group.

Plans were made to add pictures of more ASB presidents of former years to the case in the main hall and to furnish the mats for the pictures. A party is held at the end of each year for members and their dates.

Mrs. Wilcox and Mrs. Haltom are advisers.

Joyce Hauschild, fall Talent club prexy, was one of the many Tau Chi's who took part in Doll Shop.

Thespians participate in productions.

A poor little old lady (Jane Morris) graciously accepts a long-owed quarter from the rich Englishman (Mike Stroud) in a skit presented during the variety convocation.

Great satisfaction in a job well done has been the reward for individual Thespians this past year. Members of Troup 628 of the National Thespian Society, with their adviser, Mrs. Genevieve Oppen, have taken an active part in the school's dramatic and musical productions. Their motto, "Act well your part for there all honor lies," is a guiding inspiration of the club.

To become a member of Thespians, one must obtain 15 points, which may be earned by taking part in the various activities connected with a production. Dramatic roles, costuming, props and publicity are just a few.

Thespians also took care of a needy family at Christmas.

Clean living is the goal of Three C's.

One of the high lights of 3C's this year was their convocation in which they presented ventriloquist, Bob Bradford.

Weekly meetings are held each Friday morning featuring skits, songs, speakers or outside entertainment. Bible quizzes and Youth for Christ rallies are among the club's activities. Annual events are the "Hayloft Havoc" and a Lilac banquet honoring the senior members. The North Central club co-operates with eight other similar clubs throughout the Inland Empire.

The 3C's symbolize clean living, clean character and clean speech. Purpose of the club is to promote Christian fun and fellowship.

Membership can be gained by consistent attendance. Mr. Russell is adviser.

Marilyn Israel gives Gary Carpenter a "whip cream" shave at the 3C's Hadie Sawkins party. Beverly Hair enjoys a chuckle.

Lorna Overmyer, Betty Rolfness, Janet Eppley present the new rostrum.

There is a new look in the auditorium these days. Vox Puellarum members completed their two-year project — they have provided a much-needed rostrum. Money was earned through mixers, a convocation, and the sale of apples at a football game.

Their Christmas project supplied a family with food and clothes for a year. Another "good work" is the Vox award given annually to the senior girl who has accomplished the most under the greatest handicaps. She receives a medallion and has her name engraved on a plaque.

Vox Puellarum, Voice of the Girls, was organized in 1913 as a girls' debating club. It has become a social and philanthropic group active in school and community service.

Future Nurses and Library Club,

At Lakeland Village there is a girl with 24 new parents—the members of Future Nurses of America. The club's purpose is to arouse an interest in nursing as a career. Miss Guild, school nurse, and Mrs. Riegel are advisers.

Points and pins are awarded to the 31 members of the Library Workers club. Workers check overdue books, assist at the checkout desk, put books away, and have various other duties. Miss Carroll is club adviser.

Amateur radio operators pursue their interests using a receiver and the transmitter and microphone purchased by the Parent-Teacher Association. General and novice class amateur license requirements can be met in the club.

Lettermen of major and minor sports are eligible for membership in Warriors. Supervised by Mr. Diedrick, the group sponsored the track relay, the football banquet, and a convocation; awarded trophies and sold T-shirts.

Through discussions with professional journalists and interviews with visiting celebrities, members of Junior Press club, journalism students from all Spokane high schools, broaden the scope of their journalistic training as they gather material for publications.

The "Treasure Chest" sent overseas to children suffering from disaster is the annual Junior Red Cross project. Members have also provided entertainment at Fairchild and acted as baby sitters at the Veterans hospital. Mrs. McNew is club adviser.

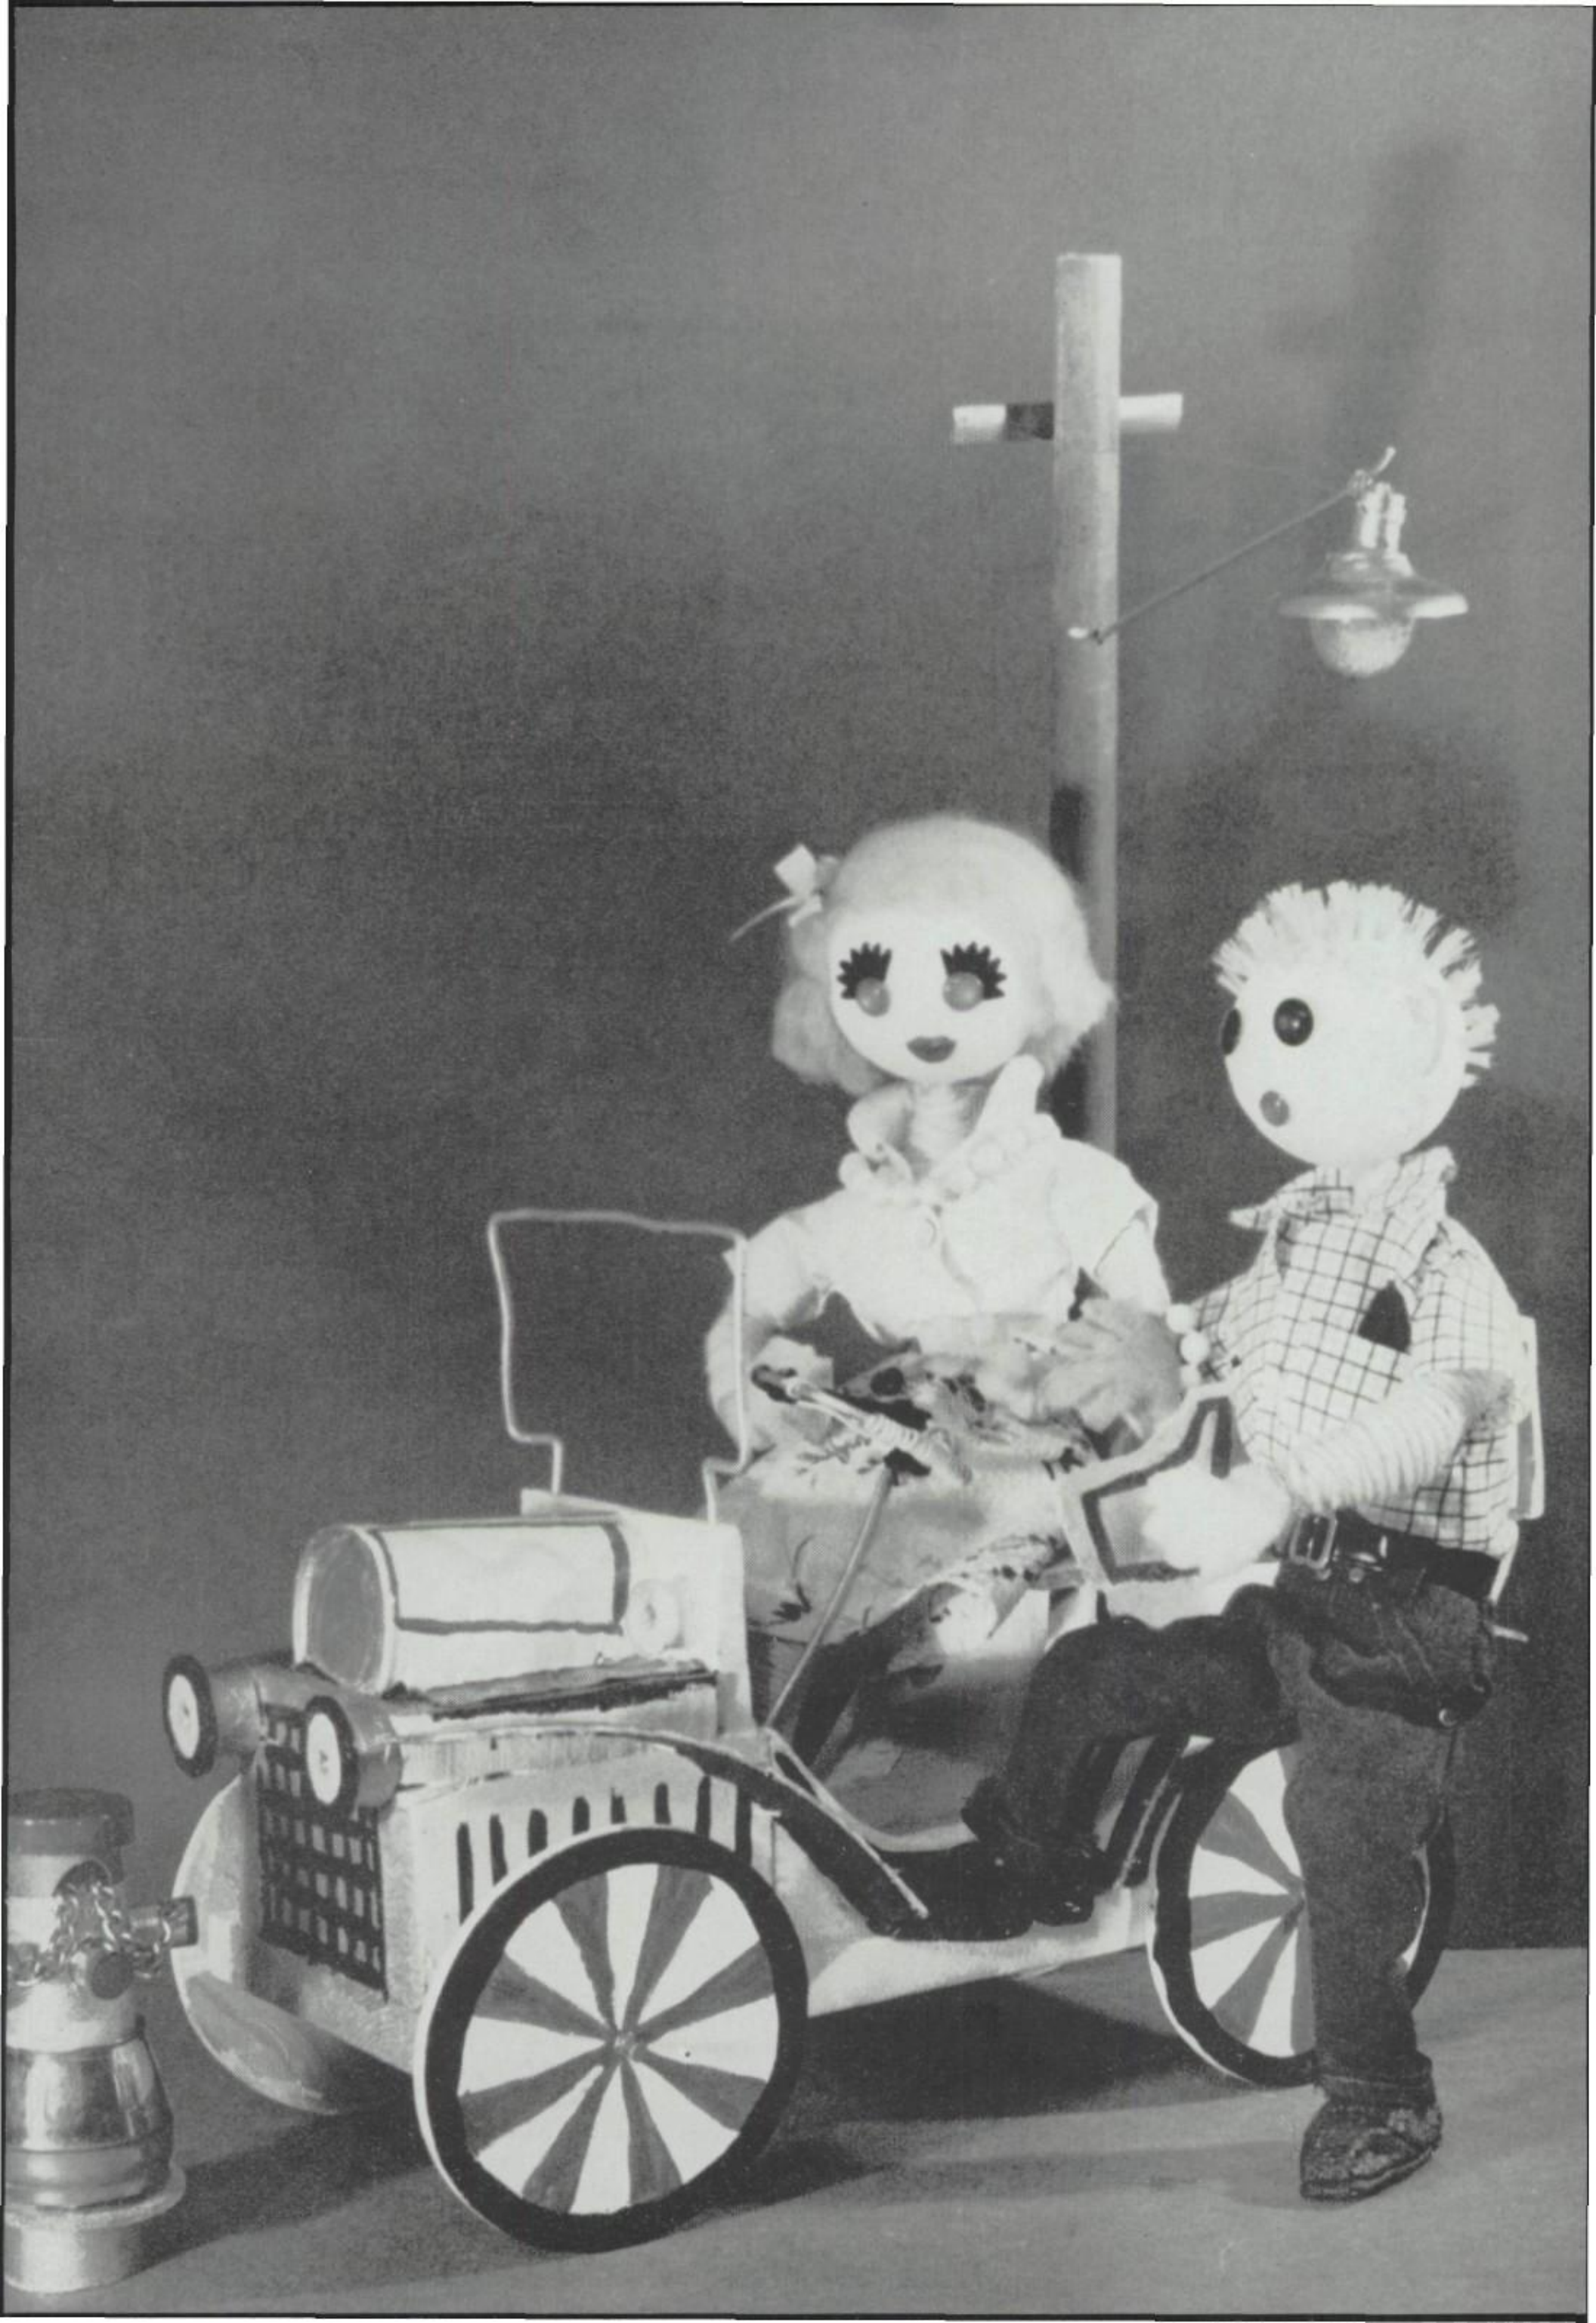
SCHOOL LIFE

What picture could better portray school life (at least after-school life) than that of a boy, a girl and a hot rod? This section includes not only the dances, convocations and various projects of the school, but also the classes, the teachers and the daily work—all of which is a part of school life.



1. SEPTEMBER — Big sister, Marilyn Israel, guides little sister, Judy Bensel, during her first days at North Central.

3. NOVEMBER — Up goes the Indian! Judy Rizzuti, Mary Bonin, and Dorothy Miller work hard to make the 1958 Tamarack campaign a success.

4. DECEMBER — Miss Knight and Miss Grant tell Santa Baker what they want in their Christmas stockings.

7. MARCH — Buzz Davis and Gary Wagner display their Science Fair project, a Van de Graaff generator, which is used in nuclear physics.

8. APRIL — Petticoats galore! Pat Wetherell and Esther Ray look smart and comfortable in their Cotton Day dresses.

2. OCTOBER — Indian? C. J. Thibault and Betty Rolfsness blacken their faces and don minstrel costumes for one of the Red Feather's Merry-Go-Round halftime stunts.

5. JANUARY — Mr. Rowley seems snowed under by the many report cards of students getting semester grades.

6. FEBRUARY — Ah! The thrills and chills of Valentines day. These North Central students seem to be carrying on the tradition admirably.

9. MAY — Bruce Nelson daydreams of the fun the summer vacation will bring.

10. JUNE — Graduation day is here! Rod Hansen fits Kay Knapton with the traditional mortor board.

Cafeteria Workers

To serve good, nourishing food at low prices is the aim of the cooks in the cafeteria. Their day begins at school very early in the morning when they arrive to make cinnamon rolls and other baked goods that might be on the menu that day. It ends at two o'clock after they have partially prepared the food for the next day and cleaned up the kitchen.

A complete lunch as well as an ala carte counter of hot food, salads and sandwiches is ready for the students at noon. In addition to the six cooks, there are four student cashiers and nine student dishwashers.

The smiling faces of the women in the cafeteria help to make lunchtime one of the best of the day.

CUSTODIANS — Eathen Sisk, Robert Gooler, James McInturff, George Truedson, Milo Sherman, Arthur Baker, head custodian.

Custodians

Who works in the school for 12 months with only a three-week vacation? Who but the custodians!

Two are engineers whose job is to take care of the furnace. The duties of the other custodians range from that of a night watchman to the jobs of replacing burned out lights and cleaning the building inside and out. They must also take care of the swimming pool. Three student helpers assist in various odd jobs.

The amount of work the custodian force has to do depends a great deal on the amount of student co-operation. Students this year have helped to make the job easier and more pleasant, according to Art Baker, head custodian.

Fourteenth Doll Shop, directed by

"This is the House Where the Dollies Are"—Abigail Todd, secretary to the King of Whyam and tutor for his children, has been collecting dolls from every land for the children to enjoy. She calls it their Doll Shop. When a jealous wife "tattles" to the king, he storms into the court, ordering the dolls to be thrown into the Chow Wow river.

As illustrious visitors arrive with their most precious dollies in tow, His Imperial Highness admits that for the first time in his life, he might be wrong, since finding this new entertainment quite delightful.

From the very top of the world came the Eskimo Dolls telling their customs in song. France sent their famed CanCan Cuties, while Hawaii sent their equally world-renowned Hula Girls. The Southern Democrats brought their Mammies and Pickaninnies to demonstrate America as "ahr freeh nashun." Ideas from "Around the World," and "The King and I" run through the entire script.

When Russia's representatives, Puschev and Bulonin, learn that Whyam has discovered oil, they bring their most graceful ballet troupe to win the favor of the king. Tom Fluster Tellis from the free nations and the Russians bicker over the oil contracts offered by Whyam. Soon a date is set for a duel between the representatives for the two ambassadors from each country, to decide who will be awarded this honor.

ham and Mr. Bradford's last at North Central. For 40 years, these two people have demonstrated their faith in hundreds of students who were able to realize their wildest and fondest dreams of being on the stage. Anyone trying out was given his choice of acts.

C. Olin Rice, former head of the music department at North Central, who has written many of the Doll Shop's songs, wrote the hop tune, "Hill Billies," for this 1958 production.

Mrs. Beaver directed the making of many of the costumes and Mr. Mhyre, Mr. Manuel and Mr. Broadwell the designing and making of the set. Mrs. Oppen and the drama students wrote the script and helped with the make-up.

Among the many attractive new costumes in Doll Shop this year were those worn by the King of Whyam, his wife and children. The Scandinavian Dolls wore native dress—the boys in shorts with suspenders and the girls in skirts and bibs. Even the Gunny Sackers had impressive-looking new heads. One act changed plain leotards into sparkling night club costumes. Traditional costumes included the Charleston flappers, Snow White and her Seven Dwarfs, and North Central's symbolic Ten Little Indians.

All of the participants struggled out of bed on numerous mornings to be on stage at 7:20 and many worked on their homework between acts. Every student and faculty member of the cast had a smile on his face and a kind word on his lips through even the most tense moments.

Motto for Doll Shop has always been, "There are no small parts; just small people." How true!

Comical counterfeiters kept audiences

Sam Jordon (Mike Stroud) has his hands full during an argument with Judy Ryan and Billie Jo Butler.

Fifty-dollar bills—a chestful of them! Unfortunately for many people, they weren't real. They could have passed for real except for one detail—the "snicker on Grant's puss."

They were made by a Mr. Judson Barry, played by George Anderson, a harmless-looking individual whose family (consisting of a sister, Mrs. Taylor portrayed by Jane Morris, and her daughter, Evelyn, played by Carolyn Almeida) thought he was doing nothing more exciting than painting sign-board advertisements for the town's leading business establishment, Griswold's Mortuary.

The Barry fifties were picked up by both the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the country's most notorious counterfeit gang. Each sent representatives to Barry's home town of Stanwich, all of them posing as reporters and photographers from Life magazine.

The counterfeit gang, headed by "Fifty" Ferris (Carole Gornall) and Sawbuck Sam (Joe Greco) thought they had made a deal with Barry when they were discovered by detective Tom Crosby (Rick Street) and his dizzy assistant Daisy (Sue Haynes) and arrested for making the "smiling Grant" fifty dollar bills. However, Mr. Barry's pride prevented him from letting the Ferris gang take the credit for his masterpieces.

The happy ending came with the engagement of Evelyn Taylor to Tom Crosby and Mr. Barry's salvation appeared in the form of a movie producer's offer to make a movie of the Barry story and redeem all the Barry fifties for $55 as payment for the movie rights—and of course publicity involved.

laughing in 'Mr. Barry's Etchings.'

Crosby (Rick Street) gives precautionary instructions to Daisy (Sue Haynes), "Listen—you just let me do the talking."

"It's a phodoney, all right. Take a look at that snicker on Grant's puss." says Fifty (Carole Gornall) to Sawbuck (Joe Greco) while Bud (Lyle Carstens) gazes in amazement.

Children applauded theater play.

The royals weavers Yvonne Taylor, Rosemary Martin, Mike Sandgren, Doris Gerike, Dick Burris and Peggyanne Tantum show their bejeweled cloth to Zar (Sue Haynes) and Zan (Lyle Carstens).

Carolyn Almeida as the gong boy stands at attention as Zan (Bob Bruya) tells the general (Joe Greco) of his wicked plans.

The Emperor (George Anderson) looks intrigued as Zar and Zan compare his new clothes to the "sun shining on a golden rice field."

When a gullible Emperor, whose driving ambition is to have more and more elegant clothes, meets two very clever, but unscrupulous weavers, things are bound to happen.

Happen they did to the Emperor of China, portrayed by George Anderson, and the weavers from a far-away land, played by Sue Haynes and Lyle Carstens. The plot was centered around the poor royal weavers who, under the strict rule of the wicked Han, depicted by Bob Bruya, were threatened with banishment; and an invisible cloth woven to reveal Han's foul deeds.

For the seven performances during February and March of this Children's Theater production, a unique set—background of an enormous dragon created by Duana McPherson—and authentic, colorful Chinese costumes, with headdresses by Bob Bruya, were high lights.

Music echoed in the halls and in the auditorium during the year as the choir walked through the corridors singing Christmas carols and presented numbers at the Thanksgiving and other convocations. Their sixty voices represented the school in a radio broadcast at Christmas sponsored by the Washington Water Power Company. This spring they participated in the Spring Music Festival.

Singing for various civic, business and fraternal organizations is an important phase of the Three Fives' program. The 15 girls together with their accompanist sang for the Pacific Northwest Trade Association and for school administration organizations such as the Washington State School Directors and Spokane Educational Association. The high light for the group this year was a trip to Yakima to perform at the Washington Music Educators Convention.

Groups in the city including church organizations, Masonic orders, the American Legion, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, and PEO have been entertained by the Three Fives. Performances for the Christmas convocation, Doll Shop, and Spring and Winter Music Festivals were school presentations.

The poise of members of the group, acquired in meeting and singing for the public, has often been described as professional by those entertained by the Three Fives.

An annual school tradition was the music department's presentation of the 14th Spring and Winter Music Festivals. "The Coming of the King" was the theme of the Winter Festival, presented in December. The 50-member girls' glee, the Three Fives, and the choir performed for this program.

School traditions and school spirit are perpetuated each year by the band members as they perform at games, in convocations, in parades and in concerts.

The North Central band, the largest school band in the Northwest, began its season in the fall with football pageants. "Show Business" was presented at the Merry-Go-Round with the Red Feathers and the Color Girls. "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella," "With a Little Bit of Luck," marching demonstrations, and the Football Princess ceremony were other offerings. Spring activities included the traditional trip to Wenatchee for the State Apple Blossom Festival and the functions of the Lilac Fesitval.

The 105-member concert band presented a winter program in January and its 58th formal concert in April.

Providing music at pep cons, basketball games and concerts has been the principal function of the special band. They entertained for the ASB installation, the first PTA meeting, the Christmas convocation, and presented a concert at Havermale.

Under the leadership of Dick Garcea, the pep band played for morning mixers, concerts, PTA meetings and civic functions. The Doll Shop orchestra was comprised primarily of pep band members.

Band officers this year are Ivan Johnson, president; Hal Hendrick, vice-president; John McCoy, secretary, and Jack Granger and Daryl Triplett, sergeants at arms.

Indian coach, Dave Holmes, will pilot the East against the West next August. Two North Central players, Dennis Spurlock and Clive Goodman are among the players for the East.

Coach Holmes stated, "I chose Dennis on the basis that he knows my offense. It would take quite a while to teach another QB the style of attack. Clive is a good offensive and defensive player.

"Most of the team will weigh in at about 180 pounds. Several will weigh over 200 pounds, while two will be at about 165."

Indians Share All-City Title

A 28-7 victory over the Lewis and Clark Tigers at the end of the season assured the Indians the cochampionship of the city league, a title which they shared with the John Rogers Pirates.

The Warriors were fighting like true champions as they downed the Tigers, the Braves gaining 372 yards to the Tigers' 61. Only four yards were made against the Indian line by the Tiger ground attack. The Indians showed title-winning form.

The annual Merry - Go - Round, which opened the season, left the Indians in third place after a loss to John Rogers and a 7-0 victory over the Lewis and Clark Tigers. Dennis Spurlock gave the Indians their only score. They chose to run the extra point and made it.

In the first league game of the season, the Warriors met disaster at the hands of the John Rogers Pirates, who defeated the Indians with a 27-13 victory.

The second game was won by a narrow one-point margin as Jim McBride blocked an attempted punt by the Tigers and a safety was ruled. Up to that point, the Tigers were ahead 7-6. A pass from Dennis Spurlock to Benny Corigliano was good for the Braves.

first score. The final total was 8-7—a victory for the Indians.

Again the Indians were victorious as they scalped the Zags 18-13. First blood was drawn by the Bullpups when they scored in the early minutes of the game. In the first half, Jeff Kyle went over for the Indians' first score. Later in the third and fourth quarters, Ray Jacobs made two more touchdowns. Both were run from Gonzaga's six-yard line.

Disaster struck again when the Pirates downed the Indians in the fourth game of the season with a 6-0 victory.

The Bullpups fell prey to the Indians for the second time with a 24-0 loss. At half time, the Indians were in the lead with one touchdown. Again in the third quarter and the last few minutes of the game the Braves made their final touchdowns.

North Central's last game, which was the 28-7 victory over the Tigers, was the one that decided its city standing.

Named to all-city first team were: Clive Goodman, a 195-lb. guard; Jim McBride, a 165-lb. senior who made punt blocking his specialty, and Denny Spurlock, who was master of split T quarterbacking.

On the second team were Gary Barton, line; Joe Perez, line, and Ray Jacobs, backfield. Chris Shears received special mention.

At the end of the season top awards went to: Gary Barton, blocking award; Jim McBride, tackling; Clive Goodman, lineman of the year, and Tom Rickard, the Buckley Inspirational award.

The B squad lost the first three league games but came back to defeat Shadle, Lewis and Clark and West Valley. Gene Allen, David Watt and Wallace Collins were outstanding on the offensive team, which was inspired by good blocking and running through the season.

In the last game of the season, which was a 19-0 victory over Lewis and Clark, the Indians played fast and furious ball. They received the opening kickoff and three plays later Gene Allen scored on a 42-yard run. Allen scored again in the second period with a 38-yard run. Dan De Witt ran five yards up the middle in the third period for the Indians' third touchdown. Wallace Collins scored the only extra point.

With only two lettermen and with the rest of the team lacking height and experience, Jerry Stannard's Indians set the two highest scoring records in North Central's history and won third place in the city league.

Spurlock set a new city high scoring record as he racked up a total of 171 points in the 10 league games. He scored six points more than the previous mark and had 66 field goals. His season total was 298 points.

Just three short of the past high record, Dick Hannan was close behind with 162 points.

Coach Jerry Stannard discusses season's strategy with players.

These record breaking scores could not have been obtained without good team support. Laurin Lee continually harassed the opponents and made 61 in the city league and an over-all season total of 117.

Gary Gorremans saved North Central's first game with Gonzaga with two free throws in the 10 seconds left to play. He had a season total of 83 and a league total of 41.

Denny Livengood and Delroy Thorpe were the two remaining seniors. Clint Britt, a junior, made a season total of 93 points and a league total of 53. He should be in fine form for the Indian team next year. Other juniors on the squad were Jerry Armour, Larry Summers and Mel Stapleton.

The cagers took 10 of a total of 19 games, losing four and winning six of the city league. Three preleague games were lost by only three points, while two league games were lost by three points, one by four points and another in overtime.

A double post offense worked effectively throughout the season, with the Indians winning the first three games against Gonzaga, Rogers and Central Valley. The Gonzaga game was won by a narrow 52-50 edge as Gorremans made two free throws with 10 seconds to play.

West Valley in an exciting game that came out a close 54-51 victory.

The Braves were in fine style as they readied for the second half of league play. Starting with a bang they scalped Gonzaga 54-46 in the first game of the second half. After two quarters of excellent basketball, the hoopsters were ahead with a 12-point lead. In the fourth period, Gonzaga came within six points; but the last few minutes were easy going for the Indians.

However, in the next game, the Indians were defeated by Central Valley by a four-point margin. After this, the North Central hoopsters were to win only one more game—a 43-40 victory over West Valley in the next to last game of the season.

Rogers downed the Indians after coming ahead in the third quarter to win by a narrow 61-58 score. North Central lost again in a thrilling overtime game to the Lewis and Clark Tigers. This was the deciding game that gave NC the third-place rating. Gonzaga had a chance at second place which they took advantage of and came out second. Lewis and Clark was on top.

The B squad took another third place for North Central as they ended their season with 10 wins and eight losses. The season ended as they polished off Central Valley and Shadle, March 4 and 7. Shadle was defeated by one point in a thrilling game that ended with North Central ahead 41-40. Gene Allen was high point man with 17 points while Phil Stohs and Ralph Jones shared second-place scoring with 15 points each.

"Winning two games in overtime and two or three others by one point, we had a fairly good season," commented Coach Hagen. "We improved as the season progressed. I think the boys played their best ball game in defeating Central Valley, March 4."

The Papooses, after winning two and losing eight, were in the cellar, along with Gonzaga.

The Freshman basketball season ended March 11, after the boys had played Rogers and Lewis and Clark in the new gym. Steve Anderson was high point man in the tussles with the Cubs and Pirates. Because of lack of height, the Freshmen lost 37-31 to Lewis and Clark. Speed was the main factor for the Pirate win.

"We played good basketball all season," said Coach Kretz. "It looks as though we have some fine players for next year. Our team had terrific team spirit. We were fortunate in not having any drop out nor any injuries during the season."

Lewiston and Wenatchee were on the varsity base-allers' schedule with out-of-town teams.

Wenatchee journeyed to the Indian diamond for a ouble-header April 8. The Braves downed Wenatchee -2 and were in turn defeated 18-0.

April 12, the Indians played another double-header ith Lewiston on their diamond. The trip was not a omplete loss for the Braves, as they split this second ouble-header of the season—winning one with a nar-ow 2-1 victory, and losing the other 8-2.

1957 Champs Seek 1958 Victory

Varsity baseballers opened the '58 season with high hopes as they prepared for the city league which opened April 17.

Coach Al Manfred had five returning lettermen—Walt Merrick, Laurin Lee, Larry Summers, Ray Jacobs and John Skelton. Seniors on the squad were Ivan Johnson, Gary Gorremans, Laurin Lee, Ray Jacobs, John Skelton, Dick Materne and Dennis Woodhurst.

Jacobs, Skelton and Stapleton were set in the outfield positions while Walt Merrick was all alone for catcher's spot. Pitching prospects were Laurin Lee, Larry Summers, Stan Woodhurst, Steve Bishoff and Ivan Johnson. Maynard Moe and Bill Sperling held down third base while Gary Gorremans and Dominic Frucci competed for first. Shortstop was held by Gene Allen and Dick Materne. Jim Dewey occupied second.

The Indians opened the city loop race by playing Lewis and Clark on the North Central diamond.

They played Central Valley at Central Valley April 22, Gonzaga at North Central April 24 and West Valley at West Valley April 29. On May 1 they met Rogers at Rogers to wind up the first round of play.

During the second half, arch rivals Lewis and Clark competed with the Indians May 8 at Lewis and Clark. The remaining games were with Central Valley, May 13, on the North Central field; Gonzaga, May 15, at Gonzaga; West Valley, May 20, on the North Central diamond, and Rogers May 22 at North Central, to wind up the '58 baseball season.

Under the direction of Coach Jerry Stannard, the B squad began its league play against West Valley.

The Indians had a 14-game league schedule. Others included in league play were Lewis and Clark, Rogers, Mead, Gonzaga, Central Valley, West Valley and Shadle.

After the opener with West Valley the Braves played Lewis and Clark April 15, Central Valley April 17, Shadle April 22, Rogers April 25, Gonzaga April 29 and Mead May 1 to wind up the first half of their double round robin. The second half opened with West Valley May 6, Lewis and Clark May 8, Central Valley May 13, Shadle May 15, Rogers May 21, Gonzaga May 22 and Mead May 27 to finish the 1958 baseball season for the B squad.

Having a team composed of freshmen and sophomores, the B baseballers began the first half of their double round robin April 21.

Coach Bill Diedrick commented, "If everything goes right we are going to try to have a game every school day of the season. The reason for the heavy schedule is that baseball is a game learned from playing —from concentrating on improving the fundamentals."

The Indians had a total of 10 league games which included the city schools plus West Valley. Several games were scheduled under the lights with Deer Park and Cheney. Other out-of-town games were to be played with Wilbur, Riverside, Mead and Freeman.

Second to none, Coach Burrill Exley's cross-country team took all the honors this year.

Instead of second place to Lewis and Clark, as in the past years, the North Central cross-country team came out on top in the city standings. Other honors captured were the Inland Empire championship and the AAU championship.

The main event of all the meets was the 2-mile run.

As the Tamarack goes to press the varsity trackmen are preparing for their next meet with Gonzaga, April 18, at Shadle.

The events run at the meets this spring were: High hurdles, low hurdles, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 880-yard run, 440-yard run, mile run, high jump, broad jump, shot-put and the pole vault. An 880-yard relay was held at the end of each meet.

At the North Central relay April 1, the Indians came out with a third place. Rogers won the meet. The remaining contests were the Moses Lake relays at Moses Lake, Gonzaga at Shadle, Rogers at North Central, Lewis and Clark at Hart field and the All-City at Hart field.

The freshman track this season is under the supervision of Coach Dale Blair.

Events run in the freshman track differ from that of JV and Varsity. They are: The 150-yard dash, 75-yard dash, 660-yard run, three-quarter mile, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, low hurdles. They also throw the eight-pound shot. At the end of each meet, instead of an 880-yard relay the Frosh squad runs a 440-yard relay.

A smaller number of boys turned out this year because many of this year's freshmen are now enrolled at the new Shadle high. Boys who are at all interested are strongly urged to turn out for track or any other sport.

Red Feathers

Dressed in dazzling white uniforms set off with bright red trim, each head topped with pert red feathers describes North Central's unique marching unit—Red Feathers. This group, made up of over 100 junior and senior girls, thus carries out the idea of the school theme—the North Central Indians.

Candidates for Red Feathers are chosen by Miss Pinkham and the Red Feather officers on the basis of their dancing and marching ability, their grade average, and their participation in the variety of activities offered by the girls' physical education department.

As an organized cheering section at all sport events, these colorful performers display sincere school spirit as they back the team, and participate in football stunts, community projects and parades.

A semester course in first-aid training is given each senior member. Upon passing the course, she receives a Red Cross card. For further instruction, an advanced course was offered this year.

An outstanding feature among the Red Feathers is the choosing from the senior members of the football princess and the spring sports princess. Among the many activities of the group was the presentation of the Cotton Day convocation on April 3 by the senior Red Feathers to promote the sale of spring sports tickets.

Freshman and sophomore girls who have been active in the girls' physical education department and who have C grades or better are eligible to try out for Color Girls. Each girl turns in an application and demonstrates her marching and dancing ability at the tryout. She is also judged on the basis of attendance, health, co-operation in school activities and good citizenship. Officers of the group and Miss Simpson, director, do the selecting. Officers are elected each semester from among the sophomore members.

Outstanding freshmen who are nominated by their teachers and their principal are received into the organization directly from the grade schools and junior high schools. A banquet is held each semester to introduce the new members.

Black skirts and wine sweaters with arrowhead emblems are worn by this group of 55, the third largest marching unit at North Central. With 20 girls, the group was organized in 1930 as an honorary service group.

With rousing spirit, they add color and zest to the games, cheering and leading the students in school songs and yells. On game days the girls add color and promote school spirit by wearing their striking uniforms. They promote ticket sales, partake in fund-raising, charitable projects and participate in football stunts and parades. They also usher at many school functions.

Being a member of Color Girls is actually a preparation for Red Feathers. The organization's aim is to develop each girl physically, mentally and socially.

Every Tuesday and Thursday the girls went either to Highbridge or Esmeralda where they practiced to improve their strokes or to receive instructions from Neil Christian, golf pro at Esmeralda.

Intramural tournaments are held in both the fall and spring season. The players were ranked according to the outcome of these matches, and the ones with the highest scores played in the all-city golf tournament.

Julie Wilcox was the captain of the team during the fall season and Lois Richards was manager. Captain of the spring team was Sherry Miller and Bev Harris man-

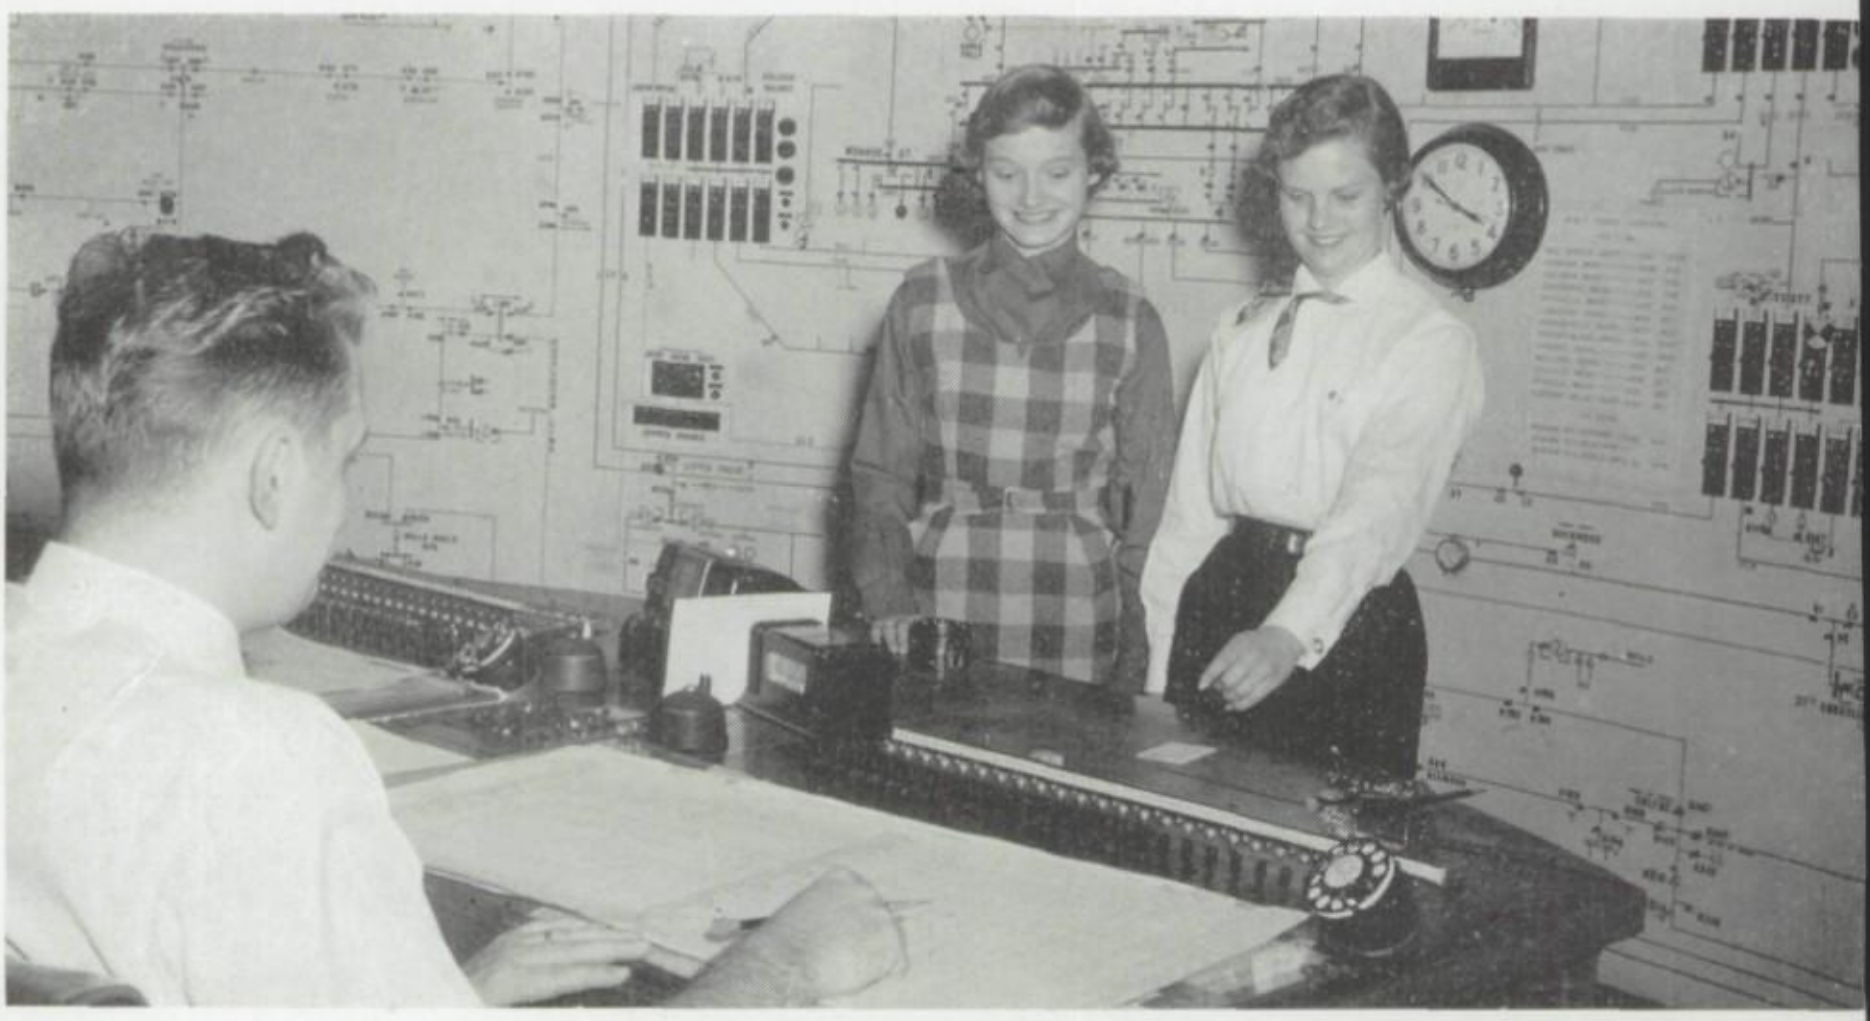
N3 POST



North Central students Lorna Overmyer and Linda Shriver visit the electric operating headquarters of The Washington Water Power Company. This amazing nerve center controls the output of thirteen huge hydroelectric plants and regulates the distribution of power across the 30,000 square mile WWP area.

Operators are in direct contact with every part of the entire Northwest Power Pool by wire and radio twenty-four hours a day—every day.

When you think about it, the family photographer falls somewhere in the family doctor-lawyer classification. The photographer, like the doctor and lawyer, is called upon when major events in your life occur. With a fine studio portrait you can relive in later years the happiness of the engagement, the wedding, the arrival of children. A photograph is part of forever, and our studio takes this responsibility seriously.

Our thanks and appreciation: To the Crescent photography studio for the faculty section portraits . . . to Art Lacey, photographer, who took special care to have each of us look "just right" in the group pictures he took of homerooms, the band, the choir, the Red Feathers, the Color Girls and the cheer leaders . . . to Al Keigley, manager of the Spokane American Engraving for his advice and co-operation. Pat Murphy, artist on the engraving staff, who spent extra hours working on the megaphones enclosing the cheerleaders; retouching the dolls on the division pages, the end sheets and table of contents; and improving with his artist's brush on nature and on student photography and mounting . . . to Donald A. Townsend, our printing adviser, for his very fine help and suggestions—and to the printers, Carl Bridge, Fred Hoefer, Tom Keel and Maynard Rikerd of the press room . . . to Mickey Brenton, feature editor of The News, who wrote the legends . . . to our advertisers . . . to our subscribers—almost 90 per cent of the student body . . . to Mr. Manuel, who advised the staff on art and picture work . . . to Miss McKenna, publications adviser, who gives unselfishly of her time to our award-winning publications.
